Reminder, to bring your old (but clean) colored T-shirts for our jump-rope project. Thank you all for your support in this mission work. Ladies, come join us for our Women on Mission - Wed., 9/25 @ 6:30 p.m.

Teach us, Messiah, to set our minds on divine, not human, things (Mark 8:33). Teach us to love God above all else and to serve our neighbors in love.

Our praise of God is more vibrant thanks to the presence of each person here. All are welcomed to worship in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Give the Gift of: Relief for Today. Hope for Tomorrow.

Our North Carolina Missions Offering goal is $1,500 -- we have rec'd $270.00 to date. Please give as you can to help us reach our goal. Thank you!

Come and join us for our Church Homecoming! We hope you will plan now to be here on Sunday, Sept. 29th, as we celebrate our 59th year. Rev. Alton Cook, a former pastor, will be our guest speaker. Following the service we invite all to stay for our covered-dish lunch in the fellowship hall.

Filling Up With Good Things... "More milk, please," said my grandson holding his glass up in the air. "Sorry, little man, there isn't any left," I said as I held the empty jug over his glass. "But, Nana, I need milk. How else can I grow?" he asked.

My four-year-old future nutritionist then began a lecture on what he needed in order to grow. As he talked, another small voice deep inside whispered, What about you? Are you growing as a believer?

Was I growing? The Lord gives His Spirit freely to His children enabling them to feed off the truth of His Word. Too often, I realized, I chose to dine on worldly things that stunt my growth as a believer. But through His Spirit, God offers a personal relationship. When we put our faith in Christ, we are filled with God's power that empowers us to serve Him and makes impossible things possible.

"Nana?" My grandson was waiting for my comment to his lecture. "Thanks, little man, for reminding me to fill up on good things," I said. At the same time, I thanked the Lord for His gentle reminder of my need for spiritual nourishment. Father, thank You for Your Holy Spirit's guidance.

-- An Open Windows devotion by Kay Johnson

Youth Reminder... We're going to the Wake Forest vs. Clemson football game on Saturday, Oct. 12th. See Joey for more information.

We invite all Senior Adults to sign up now and go with us Thursday, Oct. 17th, as we have lunch at Brushy Mountain Smokehouse & Creamery and go get Apples! We'll leave the church at 10:00 a.m. Invite a friend and come join us!
